

New Library Lights Brighten the Library

The Friends used some of this year's fundraising efforts to upgrade library lighting.

Paul DiMauro replaced all of the light fixtures upstairs and in the Children's Room. What a difference to have enough light to actually read the spine labels on the books without tripping them sideways. No mess for the librarians to clear up either. Pam is sure that everyone will all be very happy with the results. Forty-two florescent fixtures in the non-fiction section and children's room were changed out to LED. We should see a significant change in the power bill as the old fixtures were original to the 1970 construction of the addition. Thank you, Friends, for funding this project.

Path Welcomes Visitors and Offers More Space for Bricks Inscribed to Loved Ones

The Board of Trustees of the Wiscasset Library recently announced the completion of a winding brick path joining the brick patio on the library's lower level with the sidewalk. J and H Landscaping built the path. Its installation was made possible by a vote of the board and the donation of a library trustee.
