

SAVE THE DATE!

On Sunday, September 3rd, which is Labor Day Weekend, the Friends will present their 4th annual “Bands for Books” event.

While there will be some new and exciting changes, the format will remain the same, and we will raise funds to continue our efforts to provide for the Library in areas that their budget cannot cover.

This year we have an exciting and beautiful new venue – Kathy Martin-Savage has generously offered to be our hostess at her beautiful SEAFIELD FARM here in Wiscasset. Our music will be provided by a local group called Salty Dogs, which promises to be a fun and lively background for the standard food and drink, as well as our raffle and, of course, the wonderful social event for which we have become famous.

We plan to rent a tent, and provide lots of seating, with small tables scattered around the area. The bar will be provided this year by Sarah’s Café, and they will be serving some wonderful appetizers as well. Our raffle of local art, crafts and services will again be limited to about a dozen offerings.

Our Chairman, Michelle Peele has already secured several major sponsors for our party, including several local banks and several of our own members, which will make it possible to dedicate most of our proceeds to the next project we choose for the benefit of the Library.

It’s not too early to put this event on your calendar, and plan to bring friends as well. It has always been such a fun gathering, and this year promises to be no exception!

And Eric, the other twin, works for the Veterans Administration in San Diego as a social worker. He is not yet married, but has a steady girlfriend.

So there you have it in a nutshell. The life, so far, of Wendy Ross Eichler. During my political campaign, a woman I met at a door said it would be the last time she voted for a presidential candidate. I asked why? She told me she was 76 years old, and wouldn’t be around much longer. I didn’t tell her that I, out on the campaign trail, was her exact age!
